

Things YOU can do for Dr. Martin Luther King Organizing Week

1. Host a movie screening such as “Brother Outsider: The Life of Bayard Rustin”. Invite people from different clubs and have a discussion afterwards about the current struggles for social justice.
2. Host a roundtable discussion and discuss how the LGBT movement intersects with other movements. Make sure to invite people who work within different movements, including people of color, people with disabilities, women, etc.
3. Facilitate an Anti-Oppression training for students, teachers, other student clubs or anyone interested.
4. Organize an event, such as a cultural potluck night with other student clubs. Include games and discussion so members can meet each other and learn from varied experiences while having fun.
5. Volunteer your GSA or student club to support another student club’s MLK event.
6. Create a visual display for your school representing people who are part of the LGBT and other movements, such as Bayard Rustin, a gay African American man who worked in the Civil Rights movement, or Eli Clare, a queer poet with disabilities.
7. Work with other groups to develop a coalition agreement. Determine ways your groups will work to support each other through the remainder of the school year.

What are you doing for Dr. Martin Luther King Organizing Week?
Let us know by emailing info@dayofsilence.org.

For more information on this resource, contact:
GLSEN - Gay, Lesbian and Straight Education Network
Dr. Martin Luther King Organizing Week
90 Broad Street, 2nd Floor New York, NY 10004
212-388-8062/ 212-727-0254 (fax)
info@dayofsilence.org